(AG-02) Comments about Instructor Athanasios Gentimis

Comments
Dr Gentimis is an excellent teacher who helps give a broad and clear overview of statistical techniques
Wow! I was fortunate to have Dr. G as my teacher. He is professional, kind, thoughtful, funny, positive, and always encouraging. He is the best of the best.
It was a challenging course in challenging circumstances, but he did a great job answering questions and being available. I had to work full time all semester and homeschool, plus do this course for my degree while my partner did a full semester online as well. It was a lot to juggle, to say the least with limited internet connectivity. We are in the home stretchy and professor Gentimis did an amazing job making a difficult subject accessible. Having lectures recorded was a godsend.
he is super nice and patient; however, i felt the presentation of the topic was complicated. I dont know if it was the online format, but it was hard to understand the importance of each topic as it is applied Very passionate about statistics! Overall, a great teacher.
Dr. Gentimis is very understanding and helpful in all issues. He seems to be very open to helping students in their journey of learning – which I really appreciated about him throughout this course.
If I may I would offer I would like to offer one small addition to the course. I would suggest adding one more section to your online resources. Although, as aa Graduate student, I should have some proficiency locating research publications maybe you could either create some sort literature review section to help those of us who have never had opportunity to be exposed to the content and format of research publications. If I have low marks on anything, It will probably be my project report. I could have done a better job of reviewing of researching the subject, but all of internet searches on such subject matter seemed so nonproductive, I really didn't commit enough time to a literature review until the eve of report due date. the content, relevance, and facility of Dr Gentimis' Moodle page for EXST 7005 it the best of out of 9 online course
Very good explanations in class
Good Professor. he has a lot of patience.

Strong and accurate enough teaching for me to learn how to use R studio in my own time
The project was an EXCELLENT way to practice and learn statistics.
Much of this will come in handy as I dive into my thesis work. I'll be better prepared to set up an effective experimental design and know exactly how I will be analyzing the resulting data.
The coding was difficult was very worth it! I have never done graping on R/SAS only excel or minitab software
This course was very good. I think that the nature of the class being online made it somewhat harder for me, personally, in learning – but that could not be helped due to Covid. This class is definitely something that clearly works better as an in–person course but, again, that could not be helped. But, I will say that Dr. Gentimis really did a great job with integrating the course into an online format. His TA did a great job and I thought it was very smart of Dr. Gentimis to format the labs in the way he did. Great job, Dr. G!

It's going to help me with my analysis of data for my thesis
